1. Exports by DIA Chemie to the USSR really began on a large scale in the early part of 1952. As of 30 April 1952 orders amounting to 62,000,000 rubles were given to the DDR firms. So far, machines and apparatus such as distillation towers (Destillations-Kolonnen) and absorption towers (Absorptions-Kolonnen) in the value of 2,389,000 rubles have been delivered by Transmasch Rudisleben, Thuringia, Schwermaschinenbau Karl Liebknecht Werk (Pockau-Wolf) and Ernst Thälmann-Werk (Krupp-Gruson), Magdeburg.¹
2. The penalties for late deliveries are enforced, if the orders are not delivered in one month. Up until recently only the USSR, in the East bloc, enforced these penalties. In the past DIA Chemie had to pay the penalties, but since the introduction of the contact system (Vertragsystem), the penalties can be charged to the delivering firm. The usual penalties charged DIA Chemie deliveries to the USSR are as follows:

after 30 days ~ 0.05% a day

after 90 days ~ 0.12% a day

The penalty charges must not however amount to more than 8% of the value of the product.

3. In an order code number such as CN/1122/0446, CN is the product (in this case chemical equipment), 11 is the account number, 22 is the importing country, and 0446 is the current number of the project.
4. The following list shows importing countries and the numbers used to designate them in the order code number:
